Good foods – bad foods?

We're accustomed to rating foods: They're off-limits or desirable, good or bad: "Chocolate will make you fat" and "Vegetables are good for you".

Wouldn't it be nice if there were also such simplified statements about what foods effectively support cancer treatment? Unfortunately, it's more complicated than that. One thing is certain: What you need is a highly personal issue.

A nutritional consultation will tell you how you can design your optimal meal plan in order to meet your personal nutritional needs as best as possible.

Additionally, try some of our inspirational, tasty recipes made with Remune™ – Bon appetit!

Place value on an adequate and balanced diet! So-called "cancer diets" are not scientifically supported, often don't do anything or are even counterproductive!

Common side effects of anticancer treatment

THE FOLLOWING RECIPES ARE CREATED FOR THE SPECIAL NEEDS RESULTING FROM THESE SIDE EFFECTS.

MUCOSITIS

Also known as sore mouth – an inflammation of the oral mucosa caused by chemotherapy or radiotherapy. Initially, you may feel a burning sensation or the feeling of a foreign object in your throat when you swallow. Later on, this may turn into pain, which is more intense with ingestion. Tip: Cook food until it's soft and cut it into small pieces. Moisten your foods with sauces or gravy.

ANOREXIA

Also known as loss of appetite and one of the most common symptoms that occur in anticancer treatment. Tip: Outsmart your aversions by keeping small snacks nearby and add extra calories to your meals.

XEROSTOMIA

Also known as dry mouth as a result of a decrease in or the absence of the production of saliva. You will notice a feeling of dry mouth, burning, difficulty chewing and swallowing, taste alterations and halitosis. Tip: Try creamy textures and always keep water nearby to moisten your mouth.

DYSPHAGIA

Difficulty swallowing. Dysphagia can result in food entering your respiratory tract (aspiration). Tip: Change the viscosity and consistency of a chewed bite of food (called a bolus) to improve safety. See a speech therapist to find out what consistency your food should have.

CHICKEN MEDALLIONS WITH SPINACH AND CARROT-ORANGE PURÉE

NUTRITIONAL FACTS (Per serving)

Calories:	484.47
Protein:	39.26 g
Carbohydrates:	37.94 g
Fat:	20.32 g

SUITABLE FOR

Anorexia

INGREDIENTS (SERVES 1)

200 mL	Remune™ Raspberry
120 g	skinless chicken breasts
50 g	roasted red pepper
25 g	fresh spinach
125 g	carrots
75 g	orange juice
15 g	coconut milk
1 pinch	salt
1 pinch	black pepper

INSTRUCTIONS

For the medallions:

Place the chicken breast on a sheet of foil and pound out to flatten. Put the roasted red pepper and spinach in the center and roll up like sushi, tying at the ends. Fill a medium-sized pan halfway up with water and bring to a boil. Put the chicken breast rolls wrapped in foil into the pan, lower heat to low and cook for 15 min. Remove from heat. Remove foil and, when cool enough to handle, cut into medallions.

For the purée:

Peel and dice the carrots. In a small pot, place the carrots coconut milk and orange juice, and cook for 15 min or until they are tender. Remove from heat, season and mash. Add Remune™ Raspberry and mash again. Use a soup dish to serve, placing the purée on the bottom and the chicken roll on top.
